

You have defined the vision and values for your life and, in doing so, laid the foundation from which to set long-term and short-term goals. You can now consistently measure the most effective use of your time, talents, and energies against a written constitution based on your principles.

---

My Mission Statement

I will provide and give my family a good life, and be a happy and independent person

---

Character

Character is a composite of your habits. "Sow a thought, reap an action; sow an action, reap a habit; sow a habit, reap a character; sow a character, reap a destiny." Character, in the context of your personal mission statement, is what you want to be.

Character:

I will be a person who:

Is happy with my job

Passion:

What do I really love to do at work?

Finish what i need to do efficiently

What do I really love to do in my personal life?

accomplish small goals I have

Imagination

If I had unlimited time and resources, and knew I could not fail, what would I choose to do? I would:

create a task manager website that would become as big as google calendar

Vision

My life's journey is...

create a family and a good life for them and myself

---

Contributions & Achievements

By focusing on the unique contribution that is yours to make, you can become principle-centered. You may get satisfaction from past accomplishments, but the next great contribution is always on the horizon. You have relationships to build, a community to serve, a family to strengthen, problems to solve, knowledge to gain, and great works to create.

Contribution:

What do I consider to be my most important future contribution to the most important people in my life?

providing them with a good life

Talents:

My natural talents and gifts are:

Creativity, precision

Performance:

I am at my best when...

im alone in my room listening to music

I am at my worst when...

anxiety provoking situations arise

---

Values & Principles

Our values and principles are the foundation of our character, contributions, and achievements. At the very center of our Circle of Influence is where we deal with our vision and values. It is here that we make certain our paradigms are based on principles and reality. It is here that we create the end we desire, giving direction and purpose to our beginnings.

Conscience:

I need to make the following things a priority:

saving for a car

Influence:

These are the people, and their attribute, that I hope to emulate:

Brother

Mom

Girlfriend

Balance:

These are the things that I can do in each dimension of my life to achieve a sense of balance:

Physical

go to the gym

Social/Emotional

go out more

Mental

go to therapy

Spiritual

meditate

---

You've discovered your mission, but that doesn't mean your work stops here.

We encourage you to reflect on your mission statement each day to make choices, set goals, and prioritize. Continue to write and revise as you go to make sure you stay on target with your mission.

---

Resources to Enable Your Greatness

At FranklinCovey, our mission is to enable greatness in people and organizations everywhere. Here are some additional complimentary resources to help you develop and live your mission.

The 7 Habits Coach

LEARN MORE

Manage Your Energy

LEARN MORE

Do What Matters Most

LEARN MORE

The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People® will help you navigate very real problems in challenging times. Register to attend the 7 Habits Coach, a micro-webcast series based on timeless principles of effectiveness. The 7 Habits Coach is also available in podcast format—listen wherever you get your podcasts!

If you're like most hard-working professionals, you probably spend too much time putting out fires and not enough time pursuing your long-term goals. Learn how to better manage your time with these 7 tips for doing what matters most.

Do you feel a strong sense of responsibility for people and projects while often neglecting your own needs, especially during times of change or stress? Get off the path to burnout and manage your energy to do your job well with these 5 tips for constant self-renewal.